

It is wonderful not to be hounded by solicitors on a daily basis. My domestic partner is a self-employed painting contractor and the evening usually involves phone calls to clients and workers. Since we have call waiting, it is nice to not be "beeped" by calls he does not wish to receive. Also, 3 of our 4 children live out of state (any other family members live out of town). It is nice to not be bothered with unwanted calls should we be expecting "real" calls.
